

Changyu Brewery University

In 1958, according to the deployment of national ministries, Changyu established "Changyu Brewery University". The students came from various distilleries across the country, and Changyu engineers and technicians compiled their own textbooks and personally taught. They adopted a method of learning while practicing, and the students gained a lot. The establishment of Changyu Brewing University is an academic extension of the China Brewing Society.

Although this university only graduated once, its influence spread throughout the country, cultivating more than 40 technical talents for the Chinese grape wine industry. After graduation, they gradually became the pillars of the national grape wine industry, and for a long time, the degree from Changyu Brewing University became a passport for the Chinese grape wine industry.